Hyper-compression can reduce file sizes by over 3000%

Reduce IT costs and increase employee productivity

Scanned documents and other image files are often just images which means that they are not searchable and are very large file sizes.

Ocrato will convert these files to lightweight PDF-A files which are searchable and have a much smaller file size. Key benefits are:

- Ensure all documents are searchable
- Reduce storage and backup costs
- Decrease download times and bandwidth requirements

Convert scanned documents and images into searchable PDFs

Ocrato is a powerful optical character recognition (OCR) solution allowing you to create searchable PDF files from scanned documents, images, or existing PDF documents.

Compress and optimize your files during conversion, make your documents searchable and compatible for long term archiving whilst ensuring the highest quality and smallest file size for storing and downloading.
