Esri UK will then email instructions to you, for downloading and licensing ProductivitySuite.

Please note, Esri UK products are not covered by the Esri Chest Agreement (Higher Education Institution License Agreement). That covers Esri Inc products only. For Esri UK products, the Esri UK licence does apply.

Personal Licences

Personal licences are no longer available. Identity is the preferred method of delivery (ArcGIS Pro) and EVA codes for home use of ArcMap – details are available here.

Borrowing a concurrent licence

When managing borrowed licences, it is necessary to set a time limit to ensure the university policies for the security and use of the software are adhered to as they are obliged to do under the terms of the agreement. For example, a Masters student may have a three-month research project to complete before they leave the institution. In this example the student should not be provided with a license that runs beyond the time they are a registered student.

A license manager can only be set to share a license for one defined period e.g. one year, six months or three months. To enable the legal borrowing of licenses, the University may need to run two (or more) separate ArcGIS License Managers on different servers e.g. one for 12 months, one for 6 months and one for 3 months.

After the defined time limit expires the license will check itself back in whether the machine is connected to the network or not.

Supported software versions and platforms

Details regarding version numbers and supported platforms vary depending on product(s). Full information on Products can be accessed from the Esri website.
